ABOUT ME

I have been passionate about design for as long as I can remember and recently decided to make my passion my work. While I have also enjoyed many aspects of my past work, I often found creative ways of incorporating web or graphic design into my roles. While I am interested in all kinds of visual communication, my major focus is on UX/UI design and web design. I am currently working as a freelance designer on a corporate identity project for Rabid Grizzly Games.
